

Expert guidance on education for girls

Welcome back to MyDaughter.co.uk !

Many of you will already have seen our first book Your Daughter—A guide for raising girls which contains lots of great advice from the MyDaughter site and is available from all good booksellers. If not, order your copy today!

What's new on MyDaughter?

As exam time approaches once again, we know many of you will be looking for ways to support your daughter's revision over the holidays and into next term.

To help you out we've compiled a guide to useful websites and revision guides by subject in Heads' Tips—a guide to revision guides and innovative ideas to help build her confidence in Heads' Tips—more revision ideas, plus you can re-visit our popular Heads' Tips—revision & exam time for advice for both you and your daughter on surviving the revision process!

Also on MyDaughter.co.uk this month: Misaid her homework book? Lost her bus-pass? Forgotten her PE kit? Sounds familiar? Read more in My daughter is forgetful and loses everything. Other parenting issues tackled include the dual challenges of your daughter's safety and letting go in Should I let my 16 year old go on holiday with her friends? and the thorny issue of body image in young girls in How can I convince my daughter she is beautiful?

The MyDaughter blog has a wide variety of topics this month: read about the primary school where the kids are blogging from the age of 5 and improving their literacy skills in The joys of blogging and let us know whether you agree with Michael Gove's suggestion that children should read 50 books per year in Reading is for pleasure not for duty... Lastly, as Spring approaches perhaps it's time to get out and about as a family and introduce your children to some new activities - read more in Encourage curiosity and watch your children grow!

Revision downloads for your girls' iPods

Covers: English, Maths, Science & much more
Proven to improve GCSE grades and mapped to forthcoming exams.

Purchase downloads and save

Enter GSA2011 at checkout and save 25% when you spend over £15

GAP YEAR EXPERIENCES

Keen for your daughter to gain some invaluable life experience and boost her CV in this competitive market for university places and jobs? Whether it is for 1 week or 2 years, travel with one of these top Gap Year providers, all part of TUI Travel PLC, and put your mind at rest!